

TEUTON REPLY IS DISPLEASING

THIS IS SIR ROBERT BORDEN, premier of Canada, who recently sailed for England with the purpose of stirring up the British government to the importance of Canada in the war.

Officials Admit Disappointment at Its Tenor

TOT RUNS AWAY SEEKING WILD ADVENTURES; RUN OVER BY CAR UNHURT

Two-year-old Walter Vestal, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Vestal, 805 East First street, set out in search of adventure at about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and came very near meeting with disaster at the corner of Fourth and Garfield streets when, having become frightened at the bigness of the world, the many motor cars, and the hurly burly of traffic, and suddenly deciding to return to his home on East First, he was accidentally knocked down and run over by an automobile driven by Dr. R. A. Cushman, of 415 Orange avenue.

Almost Miraculous Escape

Although the left front wheel of Dr. Cushman's car ran over the boy, the little fellow miraculously escaped with only a few minor bruises.

Starts Running Wildly

Without stopping to look to the right or left, and seemingly oblivious to the cars on the street, he started running wildly back to the south side of Fourth street.

Just Case of "Weeps"

Dr. Cushman stopped his machine and went back to where the boy was lying in the street. The doctor expected to find the boy seriously injured, if not dead. To his great surprise and joy, he found that little Walter was suffering from nothing more than a bad attack of the "weeps."

Dr. Cushman took the boy to his home and made him as comfortable as possible. When the doctor visited the boy again this morning and inquired how his little patient felt he was told, "I feel jes' a little sore all over, doctor."

HUMBLE PARENTAGE, BUT THIS BABY IS A REAL HIGHER-UP

PORTLAND, July 10.—Despite its humble parentage the baby boy of C. H. McGirr is acknowledged to be a "higher up." He was born in a bungalow built on the roof of the twelve-story Wells-Fargo building. His father is superintendent of the skyscraper.

60,000 SEE LIBERTY BELL; INDIANS ALSO

DENVER, July 10.—Seven stolid Indians were among the liberty bell greeters today. They eyed the relic closely. Sixty thousand viewed the bell. The inmates of penal institutions here were permitted to join the spectators.

SAYS EUROPE'S WAR CAUSES U. S. CRIME

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—Dr. A. J. Reid, a local psychologist, today declared that the European war is the direct cause of the epidemic of American shootings and bombings. He declares those mentally weak or criminally inclined read the accounts of artillery duels and mine explosions and unconsciously adopt the methods of the warring nations.

SORRY RUSSIA BEGAN WAR, TRIES END LIFE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—Believing that Russia caused the war and grieving over it, Anton Gram, a Russian tailor, today jumped off a railroad bridge. Both legs were broken and he sustained internal injuries.

WITH ITS CROPS ORANGE COUNTY FINANCIALLY IS SOUND

Financially, Santa Ana is making a far better showing and will continue to make a far better showing during the present commercial depression than will many other cities of the United States of equal or even much larger size, according to C. S. Crookshank, cashier of the First National bank.

Crookshank states that practically since the beginning of the present depressed period there has been a constant and insistent call for money in this city.

"Unfortunately, because the local banks have not the money, this demand has remained unsupplied. The very fact, however, that the demand exists here is a very encouraging sign," said Crookshank. "In the east, where the banks are loaded with almost unlimited amounts, there is no demand, this showing that no new businesses are being started."

A Wealth of Crops

That the present lack of money in the Santa Ana banks will be met in the fall is the further belief of Crookshank.

"Orange county will harvest three gigantic crops in the fall and these will be the source of a vast amount of money," said Crookshank.

"Few people realize the greatness of the sugar-making industry in this county. Agriculturally, the sugar beet is making more money for the county than any other thing."

"The bean crop is expected to be a record-breaker this year. The walnut crop, barring unforeseen contingencies, will be the largest that has ever been harvested in this county."

"Before many months the local banks will begin to receive the great flood of money that the farmers will realize from their beets, beans and walnuts. Orange growers are now receiving vast sums for this year's crop."

On Solid Basis

"It is to its great diversity of products that Orange county owes its present soundness financially. True, times are not at present as prosperous as we would all like them to be. But how much different would they be if the county was not so fortunate in the matter of agricultural and other resources?"

"Santa Ana people do not realize how fortunate they are to be living in the county seat of what is rightly termed 'the richest little county on earth.'"

"It cannot be emphasized too strongly that during the present time, when the entire country is experiencing a period of financial depression, the soundness of which is hardly realized, Santa Ana and Orange county are more than holding their own."

PRESIDENT WILSON paid a visit to Colonel E. M. House, his close friend and unofficial envoy to Europe, at the latter's home at Roslyn, Long Island, a few days ago. Colonel House has just returned from abroad and the President's visit was for the purpose of hearing the Colonel's report on conditions there. The president was in fine spirits and consented to pose with Colonel House for the photographer.

OFFICIALS HOLD SITUATION NOW PRESENTS NEW CRISIS; NOTE CRITICISED

Some of the salient points in the German note, delivered to Ambassador Gerard last night for transmission to the United States government, are:
* Reiterated assurance that American ships in legitimate trade will not be interfered with.
* That lives of Americans on neutral ships will not be endangered.
* That German submarines will be instructed to allow American passenger ships to pass freely and safely.
* That Germany expects, in return, the United States to see that these ships carry no contraband.
* A reasonable number of neutral passenger ships will be allowed to fly the American flag and come under its protection.
* If necessary Germany will permit the United States to place four hostile passenger steamers under the American flag, under the same conditions.

GERMANY'S NEW REPLY IS VERY UNSATISFACTORY TO UNITED STATES OFFICIALS

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The new German reply to the United States is entirely unsatisfactory. Officials this afternoon made no attempt to conceal this opinion, but all refused to talk officially, considering the situation to be fraught with dangerous possibilities.

It seems to be believed certain that President Wilson will immediately reiterate his demands for recognition of American rights.

It is felt to be evident that Germany intends to make no reparation for the deaths of Americans drowned in the sinking of the Lusitania.

Germany's attempt to justify the Lusitania incident is keenly felt, as President Wilson made that incident the chief point in his two notes.

AMERICAN PUBLIC LEARNS DETAILS OF TEUTON NOTE BEFORE PRESIDENT WILSON

WINDSOR, Vt., July 10.—Millions of Americans read the German reply before President Wilson even saw it, as the president had to await the arrival of trains bringing newspapers.

The state department apparently made no attempt to communicate the contents of the note to the president, who spent the day golfing.

Secretary of State Lansing plans to meet President Wilson at Cornish as soon as the official text of the note is received. He telephoned to this effect to the president this morning.

After the conference at Cornish Secretary Lansing plans to prepare the American rejoinder. When this is finished President Wilson will return to Washington and lay the note before the cabinet.

BRYAN EXPRESSES APPROVAL OF NOTE OF GERMANY

SANTA CRUZ, July 10.—Former Secretary of State William J. Bryan said today he was "glad Germany indicated a desire to reach a satisfactory understanding of this situation."

BRITISH PAPERS DENOUNCE NEW GERMAN REPLY

LONDON, July 10.—London evening papers unanimously predict that the new German note will not prove acceptable to the United States.

Scarcely headlines variously characterize the note as:

HYPOCRITICAL REPLY

AMAZING OFFER

MORE GERMAN CANT

The Westminster Gazette says: "We can scarcely imagine the United States accepting the note as in any way meeting the demands made."

The Evening Standard, referring to that portion of the note where Germany claims submarine justified by piracy on the seas, says:

"This pirate excuse is ridiculously transparent. The unctuous Germans whine 'We always respect the lives of'"

$200,000 TAKEN BY BANDITS IN DARING TRAIN HOLDUP; ONE MAN DIES

GREENVILLE, Ala., July 10.—Two hundred thousand dollars in cash was the loot secured by four masked bandits who last night held up the Louisville & Nashville limited near here.

One man, Phil McRae, conductor of the train is dead.

Five suspects have been arrested. Poses are scouring the country in the neighborhood of the hold-up.

Bloodhounds have been sent for. Reports are current that the train carried $500,000 in gold besides what was stolen.

Above are a few of the high lights in what is conceded to be the most daring and sensational train robbery since the days of Jesse James and the Younger brothers.

The amount of cash taken is the largest sum ever known to have been realized by bandits in a train hold-up.

The masked bandits must have boarded the train at some of the larger cities. It is believed, and donned their masks after coming aboard.

The first that was known was when the engineer looked into the muzzles of four revolvers and was compelled to bring his train to a halt.

The robbers went about their work methodically and coolly. First they compelled the engineer to uncouple.

While one stood guard over the crew of the locomotive, the others went through the mail and express cars, taking their time and making a thorough search. All the valuable mail and express packages were looted.

Conductor Phil McRae came running forward to ascertain the cause of the stop, only to find himself covered by revolvers. The shock was too much and he dropped dead of heart failure.

Their work completed, the bandits boarded the engine and ran it some forty miles down the track. Near Garland they stopped and disappeared in the darkness.

The engineers made his way on to Garland, where the authorities were notified, and posses hurriedly formed.

The train is said to have carried $500,000 in gold consigned to the New Orleans Federal reserve bank.

The five suspects who are under arrest were picked up by posses near the scene of the robbery, but are believed to be merely hoboos.

BECKER'S LAST HOPE QUASHED BY COURTS

RANGELEY, Me., July 10.—United States Supreme Court Justice Hughes today denied Lieutenant Becker's plea for a review of the Rosenthal murder case. This was Becker's last hope.

He was taking his mother aloft when his engine went dead at an altitude of two hundred feet.

As the machine glided earthward, Smith balanced precariously and almost overturned. The plane smashed a fence and Smith was badly bruised.

SULTAN OF EGYPT IS TARGET OF BOMB

LONDON, July 10.—An attempt was made to assassinate the Sultan of Egypt at Alexandria today, according to a Central News dispatch from Cairo.

Since the previous attempt on his life the Sultan has been going among his people fearlessly.

civilians whenever possible. But what of Belgium?

It is asserted that 15,000 prisoners have been captured around Vylkavozh, while 500 Germans were killed around the Koutche and Bug Rivers. Cossack patrols are said to have captured hundreds along the Sialitpa river.

In an attack on Ossowetz, it is said the Germans attempted to bridge the river, but Russian artillery shattered their pontoons and slaughtered their engineers, forcing a retreat.

On the left bank of the Vistula the Germans drove an attack toward Bolinow, advancing behind clouds of poisonous gases, and captured the first line of Russian trenches. Terrible counter attacks dislodged them after bloody bayonet encounters.

SIX COUNTIES IN CALIFORNIA DO NOT REPORT ON TAXES

With six counties delinquent in their duty in not reporting to the State Controller their receipts for taxes, 52 of the 58 counties in California have reported tax receipts, classified according to the resources from which they were received, as follows:

|   |                 |

| Special receipts not available for county use | $6,078,569.24  |

Total receipts, $84,419,139.51

The receipts, all counties reporting, for 1914 were $84,789,471.91, and for 1912, $71,549,157.88. The disbursements, classified according to governmental functions performed, are as follows:

|                                  |                 |
|----------------------------------|-----------------|
| General government               | $ 6,532,388.37 |
| Protection of life and health    | 5,598,154.99    |
| Judicial                         | 1,922,086.38    |

| Miscellaneous not for county use | 4,877,729.68    |

Total disbursements, $75,303,110.95

The disbursements, all counties reporting, for 1914 were $85,848,058.79, and for 1912, $69,962,287.99.

Because of the failure of six counties to report, said Controller Chambers, "we are prevented from making proper comparisons with preceding years. This, or rather 1914, is the first year in which the counties failed to make complete returns. Such a thing, however, is not likely to occur again. The recent legislature passed a bill, and the governor signed it, empowering the controller to institute an action against any city or county financial official who fails to report in due time after demand, the penalty being placed at $1000. The statistics are of great value, if complete, but lose much if incomplete. I think the new law will put a stop to negligence. I am glad to say that the officials who fail us are few and far between."

It is to be regretted that the controller does not name the six counties failing to report. The value of statistics is in their accuracy and up to date. The officials of the six delinquent counties should be promptly presented under the law and failure to do so places the State Controller in the same class as the delinquent officials. Let us do away with favoritism.

SOME DO NOT FAVOR PARKINGS IN STREET

Anahim Herald, July 9: When the city council last night took up the proposition of paving Broadway with the exception of a park in the center of the street it met with some opposition from several residents and property owners on this popular residence thoroughfare. Those opposing the parking proposition are not against the paving but are against the idea of narrowing this street. There were some present who favored the park in the center and it will very likely be a case of having two petitions out to see who favor the two different plans.

An ordinance was read last night for the reorganization of the fire company. It will take effect in thirty days. There will be a special meeting of the council one week from tonight to appoint a driver for the new truck that is expected in a few days.

An ordinance was read last night giving the specifications for conduits to be constructed for laying cables for wires for telephone lines and other power and electric lines in the streets of this city.

The Edison Electric Company sent a check for $97.55 for its franchise payment in this city.

A copy of a map of the city by the county surveyor, showing that some of the precincts here contained more than 200 voters in one precinct and asking for a change in the division of the city was read.

The salary of street superintendent Sackett was raised from $75 to $90 a month.

SCENE in "Kreutzer Sonata." Count Leo Tolstoy's famous drama, which was shown at the New York Hippodrome at 25c to $1.00. This famous play will be presented at the Lyric Theater, one day only, Tuesday, July 13.

ATTENDANCE AT FAIR IS ON INCREASE

SAN DIEGO, July 10.—June goes down in record as contributing the third largest monthly attendance at the San Diego exposition since its opening in January, while July, even at this early date gives promise of breaking all records.

During June the attendance reached the total of 146,135, a daily average of 5,337. This figure was reached without any special events or celebrations of importance, plainly indicating that the San Diego exposition is drawing heavy patronage by reason of its beauty and the extent of its exhibits. The only special event which swelled the crowd was the concert which Mme. Schumann-Heink gave when she sang to 20,000 people.

The attendance at the exposition since its opening is now close to the million mark and when this figure is reached there will be a general celebration in which all of San Diego and its contiguous territory will engage. The occasion will be known as "Million Attendance Day."

July will undoubtedly will contribute large crowds each day. The eastern travel is well on its way and trains are arriving daily with large crowds. The three-day celebration of July 4 poured thousands through the exposition gates.

A number of large delegations coming to San Diego for conventions during July will boost the exposition attendance. Chief of these will be the Loyal Order of Moose convention which is expected to be attended by 40,000 visitors.

CHAUTAUQUA PLANNED FOR SUMMER OF 1916

Orange News, July 10: The Orange Commercial Club last evening endorsed the proposal of the Ellison-White Chautauqua System to put in a Chautauqua here next summer. Mr. Matteson, the Chautauqua representative, is engaged today in securing a list of guarantees to act as a committee for handling the local end of arrangements.

The Chautauqua promises to be a splendid thing for Orange, particularly so because this is the only place in the county that will have one next year. The program will include three sessions daily for seven days and the best talent obtainable on the coast will be procured. With William J. Bryan at large, the Chautauqua people hope to be able to present him on this coast next year. At any rate, the company guarantees a high-class program.

The effort now being made is for the formation of a committee of four people to back the enterprise. With this committee to co-operate with it, the Chautauqua people will furnish a large tent and seats and will arrange the program of lectures and entertainments. It asks a guarantee of $1500, which represents 600 course tickets at $2.50 each.

The offer of the Chautauqua people is meeting with very much encouragement and it appears that the necessary number of backers will be secured in a short time. The Ellison-White company will send an organizer here next summer to start the ticket selling campaign well in advance, and this organizer, with a long experience in the work, practically guarantees the raising of the guarantee fund before the Chautauqua opens.

Work of California Legislature

Some idea of the great mass of legislation which has been presented by the State Legislature during the past nine sessions, covering a period of sixteen years from 1899 to 1915, may be gleaned from the compilation of Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan, at the instance of a law firm of Oakland. Total number of bills presented, 21,622, exclusive of the extra session of 1912; measures passed in both houses, 6782, with 14,889 lost. Of the number passed, 4029 were signed by the respective governors during those years, and 1676 were pocketed and 159 vetoed. The last three totals do not include the action taken by Governor Johnson on the 397 measures passed to him by the last legislature, but which are included in the first totals. The figures do not include constitutional amendments and resolutions, of which there were several hundred.

The session of 1901 was the most inactive, passing a total of 1545 bills. The session of 1912 was the most active, 2922 bills being presented in both houses, against 2061 for the session just closed. Governor Johnson vetoed only four measures in 1913, but made a record for the sixteen years of pocket vetoes 428 bills. In the session of 1909 the legislators began to show most activity, and ever since then the number of measures introduced in each house has been from 25 to 33 1-3 per cent greater than in former sessions of the legislature. In 1899 only 409 bills went to the governor for signature or veto, as compared with 1915, when he received 997.

Dr. Wilcox has moved to Padgham's Jewelry Store, where he is better prepared than ever for making glasses on short notice.

At the Local Theaters

STAR CAST TO PLAY IN RAILROAD WRECK PLAY RECEIVES PRAISE

Jesse L. Lasky and David Belasco announce that they have engaged a special star cast for the picturization of Wm. C. De Mille's famous modern American drama, "The Woman," which is to be the fifth in the series of Lasky-Belasco releases and which will be shown at the Temple Theatre tonight and tomorrow. Though an individual star may be a great attraction, Mr. Belasco and Mr. Lasky feel that the most important thing of all is a thorough all-round performance, and if several stars are necessary to produce this result the artists are engaged absolutely without regard to expense. The complete cast of "The Woman" includes Lois Meredith, Theodore Roberts, James Neil, Mabel Wynn, Tom Forman, Ernest Joy, Raymond Hatton, Helen Hill and Dr. Beitel. "The Woman" is in five parts, and will surely deserve to rank among the most important productions on American themes ever presented.

FAMOUS BRADY FILM AT THE COLONIAL

Cyrus Townsend Brady wrote one of the greatest books of contemporary times when he wrote "The Island of Regeneration."

The story has been photo-dramatized by the same company that produced "The Christian." A large part of the cast of "The Christian" has been used in this latter picture and it is in every sense as great a screen success as was "The Christian." It is acted better, directed better. The story is, if possible, a greater one and the more modern photography is vastly better than was "The Christian."

Added to all this is the fact that the author has omitted everything that could be styled "padding," and so the whole great story is crowded into six truly wonderful acts.

"The Island of Regeneration" is the offering at the Colonial Theater in Orange on Monday, July 12, matinee and night.

Manager Hudson reports a constantly increasing Santa Ana patronage. He attributes it partly to good pictures and partly to the excellent orchestra.

"The Island of Regeneration" should break house records at this justly popular and successful play-house.

FILM FLASHES OF FACT AND FANCY

The Lyric Theater management announces the following plays and stars which will soon be seen at this popular little play-house: "Kreutzer Sonata," with Nance O'Neil, Theda Bara and Wm. Shay; "The Thief," with Dorothy Donnelly; "The Plunderer," with Wm. Farnum; "The Valley of the Missing," with Jane Miller; "The Devil's Daughter," with Theda Bara; "The Nigger," with Wm. Farnum; "Life's Shop Window," with Claire Whitney and Stuart Holmes; "A Wild Fool," with Wm. Farnum; "Wooded," by Marie Corelli, with an all-star cast; "The Celebrated Scandal," with Betty Nansen; "The Girl I Left Behind Me," with Robert Edeson; "The Bondman," with Wm. Farnum; "The Two Orphans," with Theda Bara, William E. Shay and Jean Sothorn. All of the above are the Wm. Fox masterpieces and are being shown in the world's largest theaters at 25c to $1 per seat. Several of the above were shown in the New York Hippodrome at $2 per seat. By special arrangement Manager Knapp will be able to present these famous plays at 10c and the lovers of the silent art can be congratulated on getting such high-class features at such a low price of admission.

Margaret Turnbull, the author of "Stolen Goods," the latest photoplay in which Blanche Sweet stars under the Lasky management, and which will be shown at the new West End Theater at the opening night, July 15, has made good use of current war interest. The heroine of the story becomes a Red Cross nurse in Belgium, and it is there that we see the beginning of her love story with an American surgeon who has been serving with the German Red Cross. The village in which the hospital is situated is captured by the Germans, and before the "enemy" actually arrives Margery, as the only neutral, is left alone in charge. A shell strikes the hospital but Margery escapes.

One of the most interesting and difficult photographic effects ever attempted and attained is the bursting of the shell in the hospital. It is shown in a manner so realistic as to be absolutely appalling.

Miss Sweet's leading man in "Stolen Goods" is House Peters.

W. J. Tedmarsh, who is scoring so tremendously in the role of "Quabba" in "The Diamond From the Sky," was for several years a member of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, distinguishing himself on several occasions. Tedmarsh served throughout the Boer War, as a member of the Cape Cod Mounted Rifles.

William Russell, of the all-star cast of "The Diamond From the Sky," is recovering from a severe case of blood poisoning, obtained when he accidentally tore his arm on a wire fence, while riding a broncho.

Gas Discovery of Hermosa While digging a cess pool on his property located in the heart of Hermosa Beach, William Able discovered natural gas. The discovery was made at a depth of 16 feet and there is considerable excitement over it.

Following is what the New York Sun said of "The Juggernaut," which will be shown at Clune's Monday, July 12:

"The Juggernaut," the big railroad wreck photoplay that the Vitaphone company has been preparing for six months, came on the screen yesterday at the Vitaphone Theater and proved to be worth all of the $25,000 it cost. The great scene in which a speeding express crashes down through a weak trestle, engine and cars diving headlong into the water, makes a hair-raising effect on the screen. One who had seen the actual wreck as it was filmed found the screen presentation of it far more thrilling because the illusion of the rushing train carrying the heroine and hundreds of others was splendidly maintained by Ralph W. Ince up to the moment when the bridge gave way and the throbbing engine plunged down, almost straight at the spectators. It will be many moons before another effect that will equal this in stirring the emotions will be shown. The "Ohs!" and "Ahs!" that were heard in yesterday's throng were ample proof of its success. It is also to be recorded that the spectator who watched the veritable catastrophe, obtained a much better view of it on the screen than he did when it occurred.

Briefly, the story is that of a railroad financier who neglects his road for the stock market; of a district attorney who attempts to prosecute him but is threatened with a charge of murder and drops the case; of a daughter of the financier who clears the district attorney's name and, in riding home in one of her father's own expresses, goes down to her death with the collapse of the trestle. The father and district attorney race in automobiles to the scene of the wreck, and the financier dies of shock and horror as he sees his rotten trestle send the giant train down bearing his daughter to death. The district attorney arrives only in time to take out the woman's body. That rushing train of juggernaut sweeps the spectator along in growing excitement until its fatal plunge brings him up off his seat.

NANCE O'NEIL STARS IN TOLSTOI'S PLAY

Nance O'Neil, star of the great Fox production of "Kreutzer Sonata," one of America's greatest emotional actresses, will be seen at the Lyric Theater Tuesday, July 13.

Nance O'Neil, whose sensational work as Odette de Maigay, in one of David Belasco's greatest successes, the memorable "The Lily," placed her in the theatrical hall of fame for all time and stamped her as a transcendent dramatic genius, plays the leading role in the screen version of Tolstoy's master work, "Kreutzer Sonata," produced for William Fox by Herbert Brenon, who became famous as a director when he pictured "Neptune's Daughter." Not soon do those who have seen Miss O'Neil's art forget it. One of America's foremost critics has said of her:

"Miss O'Neil is, beyond peradventure of a doubt, one of America's—one of the world's, in fact—greatest emotional actresses."

This is the actress who portrays with wonderful emotional strength and power the character of Miriam, in "Kreutzer Sonata." It is a role that gives full sweep to the mighty forces of Miss O'Neil's surpassing gifts. In it she reaches heights that she never attained even upon the speaking stage. It brings out the finest points of her wonderful ability, enhanced and intensified by the greater opportunity the screen offers for the display of this actress' great genius.

Theda Bara, the famous Parisian emotional actress from the Theatre Antoine, Paris, the play-house of thrills, who created a veritable earthquake throughout the country for her marvellously telling performance of the Vampire in "A Fool There Was," repeats her gripping characterization of that role in her rendition of Celia in this great picturization of "Kreutzer Sonata."

This famous play, as well as all others under the Wm. Fox banner, is shown in the world's largest theaters at 25c to $1.00 per seat, but under special arrangements the Lyric Theater is showing these masterpieces at 10 cents.

Tonight the Lyric theater is presenting a big Broadway feature in three parts, entitled, "Shattered Memories," with Robert Leonard and Ella Hall. With other photo plays the evening can be well spent in witnessing a varied program of the best in moving pictures.

WM. S. HART APPEARS AS 'FROSTY BLAKE'

This is another strong western subject in two reels with William S. Hart, Charles Ray and Louise Glaum in the leads. The story of the young minister who attempts to save the mining camp gets a strong hold on the observer.

He slaps the big gambler in the face at the risk of his life and at last does sacrifice his life in the cause of religion.

His heroism for the work finally converts the gambler and the girl, who are married by the dying minister. This is a fine western number and the whole cast is worthy of special mention.

This is a real feature and one that will please.

SMITH'S LECTURES ON ORANGE COUNTY ARE WELL ATTENDED

J. P. Smith, Orange county lecturer and booster at the San Diego exposition, has written the following letter to the Board of Supervisors:

San Diego, Calif., July 1, 1915.

The Board of Supervisors, Santa Ana, California.

Dear Sirs: In point of attendance at the lectures, last month was the best we have had since the exposition opened; a total of 855 persons were in attendance during the month, being an average of 33 per day; the past week was the banner week, 385 were in to hear what we had to say in regard to Orange county, or an average for the week of 64 per day, and more than 300 names were added to the Chamber of Commerce list.

June 23 was designated Santa Ana Club-Chamber of Commerce Day, and proved to be one of the greatest successes of the number of Orange County days we have had at the exposition; some 218 persons were fed at luncheon in the patio of the Southern California building; each some visitor was "badged," and furnished tickets to most of the concessions at approximately half price.

General admission to the exposition totaled 156,135 for the month, not quite so much as for May, but averaged 5500 each day, and producing real financial results for the exposition management.

Interest in the county continues among eastern visitors, and many have been prevailed upon to stop over in the several towns along the Santa Fe route.

Respectfully submitted,
JOSEPH P. SMITH,
Representative Publicity Department,
Orange County.

NEWS BUDGET OF TALBERT

TALBERT, July 10.—A few days ago H. G. Nagochi had his auto turn over about three-quarters of a mile west of Talbert. He was attempting to pass another machine on the boulevard driven by N. C. Thornton of Long Beach. When the passing machine struck the sand near the boulevard it turned completely over, wrecking the two rear wheels and breaking the windshield, besides tearing the top off and breaking one of the fenders. As it happened Mr. Nagochi was only slightly injured with a few scratches and bruises.

The contract to build the reservoir for the Holly sugar factory near Huntington Beach has been let to S. E. Talbert. The reservoir is to be built 200 by 400 feet in size.

On last Tuesday a joint meeting of the Talbert and Newbert Protective Drainage Districts was held in Santa Ana. The question of opening the ditches and river was discussed, but nothing definite was reported.

R. L. Collins and family are attending the exposition this week at San Diego. Those who went last week were C. F. Ward and wife, S. E. Talbert and wife, John Brewer and Mrs. M. A. Nimmocks and Rev. A. B. Waldrop and wife.

J. J. Townsley and family spent a couple of days last week with Mrs. J. E. Barker of Santa Ana.

Earl and Walter Lamb with their families and their mother, Mrs. D. W. Lamb, have been at San Juan Hot Springs for the past week.

Roy Manley and family visited Mrs. Manley's mother, Mrs. D. Pickett, at Long Beach last Sunday and Monday. The girls, Leona and Leda, will remain with their grandmother a couple of weeks.

ORANGE RECEIPTS BY EXCHANGE ARE NOW

$937,562.27

The Orange County Fruit Exchange shows total receipts for orange shipments made by the exchange from September 1, 1914, to July 7, 1915, to be $937,562.27.

In addition to this amount which has come into the district through the exchange, there is, of course, a considerable amount coming through independent shippers. It is evident, therefore, that with a leeway of two months of good markets remaining, the year will boost the receipts of this district very materially over the million mark.

In Manager Huff's report, the June receipts of the exchange are shown to be $250,258.38.

Shipments from September 1 last year to July 3, 1915, were 1524 cars as against 1305 cars during the same period of the preceding year. Thus the increase is 219 cars.

Huff states that the outlook for the rest of July is most promising and he looks for a continued strong market.

The Orange County Fruit Exchange handles the output of co-operative associations "east of the river," that is, Olive, Orange, Villa Park, McPherson, El Modena and Tustin.

The following article, reprinted from The Philistine, embodies Elbert Hubbard's last thoughts on the subject of Co-operation in Business. Written but a few weeks before his death, it is alive with the deathless spirit of the great sociologist.

GREAT ORGANIZATION IS MIRROR OF TIMES, SAID ELBERT HUBBARD

Noted Writer, Victim of Lusitania Disaster, Tells In His Wonderful Way of "A Little Journey to the Greatest of Co-operative Institutions

I know of no business organization that so completely mirrors the new time in which we live as the United Drug Company.

It has a chain of seven thousand agencies that circle the globe. They are known as "Rexall Stores."

Here is a business concern that is doing something besides doing business.

One general purpose animates and inspires all of these agencies. And that is the Desire to Serve.

Here business and beauty blend. Good will, industry and economy—and prosperity comes as a natural result.

The man who founded the concern is a young man yet—hasn't turned forty. But he has seen the evolution of a great ideal.

He has seen a beautiful dream take tangible form and become a commercial success beyond the dreams of avarice.

It is very certain that Louis K. Liggett, when, in Nineteen Hundred Three, he called forty druggists together, and laid before them a definite plan of co-operation in business, had no idea of the extent to which this plan would expand.

"Get your principles right," said Napoleon, "and the rest is a matter of detail."

Louis K. Liggett got his principles right. A great wave of light was breaking over humanity. Liggett saw that light. We began to take on common sense. The fears that had haunted us were found to be baseless. Life, we discovered, is largely what we choose to make it.

We work from the complex to the simple, and the obvious is the last thing we know. We have what we give; we keep that which we pass out. The treatment we give to others comes back to us again. Cast thy bread upon the waters and it shall return to you shortly—buttered.

These truths in modern times seem first to have been uttered by Emerson, but they got into the air. Young Liggett, the traveling salesman, sensed them—breathed them in.

He was in touch with humanity. He knew the great throbbing heart of mankind.

The contrast of the old with what-might-be took hold of the heart of Liggett.

Shabby stores had discouraged the drug business and pushed it to a very low ebb.

The turn of the tide came when Louis K. Liggett, that traveling salesman from Detroit, had a big idea, one that was so big that he did not know how big it was, and he doesn't know yet.

Great Idea Is Born

Louis K. Liggett was no poet, no dreamer, no reformer, no moralist. I am not sure that the subject of ethics came in it at all.

He was simply a successful business man, and in order to be still more successful he incubated his idea; and so the forty druggists gathered together and Mr. Liggett explained the idea, and as he explained it the subject grew plain to himself.

Liggett was luminous, possibly voluminous. His enthusiasm ran over and inundated everybody. He swept the forty druggists off their feet. He met the quibbles, questions and quirks with Liggett logic. He said one man in a town handling one line of goods, and this is a line that is not sold through jobbers, can control the trade so as to make for himself a living and more.

Without this co-operation, Liggett saw only bankruptcy ahead of the retail trade.

The wholesale druggist was to him a superfluity, for if any druggist can get anything from a wholesaler, then any other druggist can do the same.

The result was that the retailer was pitted against the retailer and they fought it out like the Kilkenny cats, so that practically all that was left of the druggists was their tales of woe.

How Business Started

Young Liggett pictured what the business might be. His idea was to make a line of fifteen remedies for which he had the formulas.

Liggett pictured astore that would be attractive to all people, where children could safely trade, and where women would like to come. He would have the man who ran a drug store be something beside a druggist—he must be a merchant. His stock must be so attractive that things would sell and sell fast. If the profit were close and the volume large—why, the balance-sheet would show up all right.

This new kind of drug store must symbolize life, light, laughter, love.

It must stand for truth, for education and civilization, and for all that makes for brotherhood and human betterment.

The idea was interesting. Liggett's enthusiasm was contagious. Thirty-three of the forty agreed, on the spot, to put up four thousand dollars apiece.

And the plan was set in motion. Each drug store was to be known as a "Rexall," that is, the King of All Drug Stores.

It was to be a peculiar store. It was to tell the truth in its advertising. It was to be well-lighted, well-ventilated, and the idea of beauty, cleanliness, order, decency, was to be cultivated.

A Rexall store was to be a store that rendered a service to the whole town.

The idea of being accommodating and courteous was never to be lost sight of.

This chain of stores would stand by one another. The United Drug Company would manufacture in large quantities certain things that were desirable, and would distribute these at a very slight advance over actual cost to the Rexall Stores.

And so the business began.

Cost Has Been Reduced
The business grew, and the men in charge of it grew with the business.

These forty men who put in four thousand dollars cash have received half-yearly dividends, without fail, on their investments. Not one has dropped out, and their trade has vastly increased. Several men started other stores.

One drug store in each town or vicinity was the rule. Gradually, slowly, surely, new towns were allowed to come in, and always and forever on exactly the same basis. The man must be a stockholder—only thus could his hearty interest be secured.

The United Drug Company's stock is owned by the Rexall Stores.

The middleman gets no grab. Things move direct from manufacturer to dealer.

Every dealer is given courage, inspiration, animation, hope. Every Rexall Drug Store stands by all the rest.

The cost of selling from manufacturer to dealer has been reduced to a minimum. Where formerly twenty-five per cent or more commission was expended on traveling salesmen, advertising and pobbers, the article goes direct from the factory to the retailer at a cost of, say, three per cent for selling.

Every Rexall druggist is practically in partnership with all other Rexall druggist. They are brothers, all. What one knows is told to the rest. There are no secrets.

Annual conventions, state conventions, conventions of Rexall clerks, keep knowledge in motion.

All Go to School
Every Rexall druggist is going to school. Also, he is a teacher. An ideal is placed before him and he has to live up to it. The Whole Thing Mirrors Co-operation.

It symbolizes harmony instead of strife.

It stands for human betterment, and is representative of the best thought of the time.

There is a degree of decency, order and good taste manifest in Rexall Drug Stores that I have never seen in any other, or, in fact, in any other similar business institution.

They have kiboshed the cockroaches, the flies and the microbes, and lifted the whole drug trade from a cheap village atmosphere to a plane of art.

Such a degree of excellence and beauty and worth is only possible where a large number of people work together, and where a high standard is maintained.

Rexall Idea Has Grown
A Rexall Drug Store symbolizes health, not disease. It is a pleasant place to visit. Go into a Rexall Drug Store in any town or city and you will feel at home. Try it.

A Rexall store is a bureau of information. Automobileists know that. When I auto into a strange town and want information, I head for the Rexall. It is a part of the duty of every Rexall clerk to give reliable information. If he doesn't know he finds out, and I've had a Rexall clerk say, "I'll go and show you."

Whether you buy or not you are welcome in a Rexall.

Rich or poor, high or low, learned or illiterate, no customer is ever geyed or given the smile audible.

Children trade at Rexall stores with perfect safety, for it is the highest policy always to safeguard the customers' interests.

Knowledge is only a comparative term, and none of us knows so very much. But no matter how ignorant a man is, in calling for one thing and meaning another, no Rexall clerk will ever lift an eyebrow in disrespect.

The Rexall idea has grown as the world has grown.

A Rexall Drug Store stands for friendship.

As a Rexall Drug Store is in partnership with every other Rexall, so is a Rexall drug store in partnership with all of its customers.

The interests of the public are the interests of a Rexall Drug Store. Money comes incidentally to service rendered. Ich Dien—"I serve"—could well be on the sign of every Rexall, but better still it is in the heart of every Rexall owner or clerk.

In order to hold its position a Rexall Drug Store must constantly study the wants and needs of the people. It must be abreast of the times.

This is mirrored in the fact that recently the Liggett stores, which are directly owned by the United Drug Company, have eliminated spirituous liquors in every form from their shelves. This was a big money loss, but eventually it means gain—gain in friendship.

Once the drug store's chief standard was booze.

Just imagine the biggest dealer in drug supplies in the world not handling spirituous liquors at all! Also, if you please, just imagine the biggest drug-supply house in the world not selling preparations that contain strychnine, opium, morphine, arsenic or mercury. Rexall remedies are safe. They always benefit, and sometimes they work remarkable results, but they never poison. Safety first! If you want deadly poisons, there is no use applying to a Liggett druggist.

This is in accordance with the best modern ethical ideas, although, strictly speaking, it is not ethics at all. It is simply a matter of business and enlightened self-interest.

In no particular line of human endeavor has a bigger revolution taken place recently than in that of medicine. My father is a doctor. He is ninety-three years of age. He has practiced medicine for seventy years, and he is still practicing.

It is a common thing for the funny men to take a fling at doctors. Happily, however, the doctor has evolved with the times; and a good doctor is now a totally different sort of man from what he was forty years ago.

Doctors have played a big part in the evolution of civilization. Also, they have done a valuable work in literature. Doctors S. Weir Mitchell, John W. Draper, John Brown, Thomas Huxley, Lord Lister, William Harvey, Edward Taylor, Still, Austin Flint, Frank Billings, the Mayo brothers, Roswell Park, Maurice Richardson, all have played big parts in the play we call life.

Scope Is Great
Against three hundred remedies, the United Drug Company carries over three thousand articles for household and toilet use. Liggett's Chocolates, made from juicy fruits and selected nuts, covered with delicious chocolate. Perfumes from France—distilled from the flowers; toilet soaps from Paris; toilet powders from Vienna; exquisite things from the Orient; high-grade stationery—each and every article being exquisitely packed, plainly labeled and marked, with absolute truth stated in reference to quality.

Then there is a line of rubber goods and hot water bottles, unequalled in quality by anything that can be found elsewhere, the world over.

There are a great number of articles today that are regarded as necessities which once were luxuries or perhaps unthought of; such as tooth brushes, hair brushes, clothes brushes, soaps, dentifrices, pleasant tasting mouth washes, perfumes, toilet waters, hair washes, soda fountain supplies, toilet powders, cosmetics, and, in fact, most of the business of Rexall is to supply these little trivial necessary nothings that we all need, and without which we are uncomfortable and at a disadvantage.

As we go through life we want to be pleasant and agreeable. Most certainly we do not want to live in such a way that people will wish to side step us when they see us coming. Clear eyes, a good breath, agreeable manners, cheerful habits, a kindly disposition—these are the things, at the last, that make or mar on this little journey through life.

Helps Its Help
And one thing surely the United Drug Company is doing—it is educating its helpers to be bigger and better men and women. The home office is a school and a university. Here is a place where civil-service reform is no idle theory. The U. D. Co. is a search for talent. Every inducement and opportunity is offered for better work. Just as fast as a boy is able to fit into a better place, the lad is moved along, and his pay raised accordingly.

There are committees that study each case where and employ may be at fault, and the erring one is helped in a friendly way, in order that the same mistake may not be repeated. But as for being "shown the door," no such thing happens. The "door" shown is the Door of Opportunity, not the door of disgrace.

So by this plan, errand boys evolve into clerks, into salesmen, salesmen into foremen, and foremen into superintendents.

I met one young woman at the U. D. who began work ten years ago pasting labels. Now she is in charge of a department at a good salary. And her case I afterwards found was not unusual.

Children and old people always have special consideration in a Rexall Drug Store. If a man is deaf he never gets the tee-hee from a clerk. If he lisps and stutters, nobody knows of it. If he is dull and stupid and speaks the English language imperfectly, it makes no difference—unfailing courtesy and attention are his. No service is too small for a Rexall man to undertake.

Example of Genius
Anybody can do business fairly well.

Some can do business superbly well; and occasionally there are men who do business so perfectly well that they are without competition in their own particular chosen line of human endeavor. These are the people that grumpy, grouchy, growling competitors often refer to as "the trust."

The Rexall Drug Stores reveal genius in the realm of commerce. It is mother-love in trade.

The greatest compliment ever paid to a druggist was when the New York Central Railroad Company invited Louis K. Liggett to open a Rexall drug store in the Grand Central terminal in New York.

There were hundreds of applications for the space, some of them from highly successful people.

But the Vanderbilt order had gone out that every store in the Grand Central must be rented only to men trusted and tried, who knew their business through and through, and whose line of goods and attention to

HENRY FORD, HIS MEN AND HIS MACHINES

Henry Ford having sent to New York for scientific treatment several of his employees addicted to the use of drugs or alcoholic liquors, the representative of the Ford welfare department accompanying them has this to say of the principles animating his chief:

Mr. Ford looks upon each man as a tremendously more important than a machine. When, however, a machine goes wrong we have a mechanic who looks it over and fixes it. Now, a man is much more important to Mr. Ford. He wants to see that each man has every possible opportunity of bettering himself.

Men look upon a machine performing some task of marvelous complexity, and in tones approaching awe say: "It is almost human!"

They look upon a workman, toiling twelve hours a day, at a monotonous, even degrading, task, for a wage that barely suffices for the day's needs and with a contemptuous shrug remark: "He's a mere machine."

But the machine of steel is tended with a care almost loving lest it break down. It is not speeded beyond its capacity. The temperature in which it works is carefully regulated. At night it is oiled and rubbed down like some splendid athlete after his triumph in the arena. The human beings who tend it are unremitting in their care, and often boyish in the pride they take in their charge.

But who, as a rule, takes pride in them?

Few, indeed, are the workmen for whom employers manifest the care they show to their machines. The men, aye, the women and children, too, may work long hours in fetid overheated air or in damp cellars. They rub down and cover the machines they serve, but who gives their tired bodies any restful attention? They are speeded up to the breaking point, and should that point be passed their employer calls in no repairer of the human body or restorer of the human will to bring them back to efficiency. They must look out for themselves.

Henry Ford early recognized the difference in treatment of the two machines. He set out to do justice to the neglected one—the workman. Recognizing that dull, monotonous and mind-dwarfing work must be done, he made the conditions of employment such that men could do it and still not be stunted in their many qualities.

In endeavoring to cure some of his workmen from evil habits, Mr. Ford is merely carrying out his principle of conserving the efficiency of his men as he would that of his machines. If a gear had a habit of slipping, that part of the machinery would be shut down until a mechanical expert could correct it. The human machines which put themselves out of order with liquor or with drugs are to be given like expert attention.

In all this Mr. Ford disavows any sort of benevolent purpose. The reports of his company's profits emphatically demonstrate that his policy pays. Not a one of the great employers who insist on regarding labor as a commodity and men as machines for the care and upkeep of which they are not responsible can point to a business success that parallels Ford's. Yet few emulate his methods or are willing to accept as he does the responsibility and the necessity of keeping the working force in as good condition as the mechanical equipment.

NEW ACCOUNT SYSTEM FOR FRUIT MEN

Copies of the accounting forms necessary in a new system of accounting for co-operative fruit associations can now be obtained from the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. This system has been worked out by the department to meet the needs of the smaller organizations which handle fruit and produce, on a commission basis. There are several hundred of such co-operative organizations in the United States at present and new ones are continually being formed. Many of these, however, are short lived, and their failure can be traced in many cases to a faulty system of accounting. In the new system described by the department in Bulletin No. 225, "A System of Accounting for Co-operative Fruit Associations," and envelope system is substituted for the sale book as being more flexible. In these envelopes all records and papers are held from the time the fruit is received until payment is made by the person to whom a carload of fruit is shipped. There is this one envelope for each carload shipment. After the car has been paid for, the difference between the amount received and the various charges connected with the shipment constitutes the balance due to the grower.

Those who desire further information on this subject are requested to apply to the department, which through its Office of Markets is endeavoring to assist in every possible way co-operative associations in solving their various accounting problems.

Some Plums Here

From a Satsuma plum tree growing on a residence lot in Pomona a branch 23 inches long was cut, the branch being smaller around than a lead pencil, but it carried 116 normal plums, clean and rosy. The tree is loaded so heavily that it is breaking down. An estimate is that there are 800 pounds of fruit on the tree.

INTERNATIONALLY RENOWNED WATER COLORIST AT LAGUNA

LAGUNA BEACH, July 10.—Unusual interest is being manifested by the coterie of artists at this resort in the action of Mrs. Elizabeth Gowdy Baker in temporarily changing from aqua-elle, or water color, to oil painting. Not only has this internationally renowned artist taken up for the present the oil medium of expression but she is using, also, the broadest possible methods. Instead of brushes, the artist is obtaining her landscape effects entirely through the use of the palette knife.

To the layman a word of explanation will not be out of order. Mrs. Baker is the only painter who has ever achieved success in the employment of water color in painting life-size portraits. Numbers of painters use water color in portraiture but none of them have ever succeeded like Mrs. Baker in the art of painting full-length and life-size portraits in the delicate medium of water color.

At Laguna Mrs. Baker is devoting her energies entirely to painting landscapes. She uses oil color, employing her palette knife in laying on the pigment. By thus changing from the dainty water color medium to the coarser and more direct oil medium she is succeeding in strengthening her technique in a way that will aid her tremendously when she again resumes aqua-elle.

The power that Mrs. Baker succeeds in obtaining in her water color portraits is a constant source of wonder to both artist and critic. Some of the tremendously virile effects in her aqua-elles are seldom seen in the work of many of the foremost painters in oil.

Sorolla, the great Spanish painter, when he was interviewed on his visit to this country said that he was most impressed by the ability of the women of the United States. "I consider Mrs. Elizabeth Gowdy Baker the most remarkable woman of a nation of remarkable women," was the way the famous Spaniard expressed himself.

Mrs. Baker, with her husband, has been at Laguna Beach for the past two weeks and expects to remain here for another month. Her mother, Mrs. Ellen J. Gowdy, of 825 French street, Santa Ana, is also with her. Mrs. Baker has two sisters who make their home at Santa Ana, the Misses Joella and Sally Gowdy, the former an instructor in mathematics at the Santa Ana Polytechnic High School. Both are at Laguna.

Mrs. Baker had planned a visit to Paris last year but was compelled to give up the trip on account of the European war. She is the only painter not of French nationality who has ever been accorded the honor of being asked to exhibit work in the annual exhibition of one of the foremost aqua-ellists' societies in Paris. She was preparing to go to Paris to exhibit one of her paintings in this salon when the war broke out.

STATE PRINTING OFFICE HAS MADE AN EXCELLENT RECORD

John Francis Neylan, chairman of the State Board of Control, has issued the following statement concerning the accomplishments of the state printing office:

The state printing office during the past six months has constantly improved even upon the excellent record made during the previous three years and a half. While the showing in connection with the legislative printing, which was the lowest cost in ten years, was excellent, the best part of the work done by the state printing office has been in connection with the printing of the text books for the school children of the state.

From time to time we have heard that the public could not operate an enterprise as effectively as the private corporation could. The state printing plant today is the answer to this sort of argument. Probably the best method by which this can be driven home in the minds of the people of the state is by a comparison of the cost of text books, taking the lowest price of the eastern manufacturer, the prices charged even under the old extravagant methods prior to the Johnson administration and the prices actually charged since this plant was taken over four years ago and modernized.

Even the most critical opponent of public operation of a utility cannot cavil at these figures, for the reason that they are a product of the Denham cost method system which the Board of Control had installed in the printing office four years ago.

In the elementary schools of California last year there were 401,005 children. In relation to the text books used we have before us the list of prices charged by the eastern manufacturers; we have also the prices charged, which were the actual cost last year, of these books. The following table shows accurately the entire story:

| Grade | Pupils | Eastern Mfrs. Prices | Cost prior to Administrat. | Present Cost |
|-------|--------|----------------------|----------------------------|--------------|
| 1     | 86,880 | $5,994.20           | $41,702.40                | $29,539.20  |
| 2     | 52,472 | 34,106.80            | 25,711.28                  | 18,889.92    |

It will be seen from the table that even under the extravagant business methods that prevailed prior to 1911 the school children of the state could be furnished with text books at a lower cost than the eastern manufacturers furnished them. The present cost of these text books as will be seen from the table, is less than one-half the cost charged by the eastern manufacturers, or a difference of approximately $257,000 in one year.

Many critics of public enterprises may argue that cost of plant is not included or interest on the investment. This $257,000 difference in one year is more than sufficient to not only pay interest on the investment but to duplicate the entire state printing plant, and this is the saving of but one year. The showing is remarkable and a vast deal of the credit for this excellent showing is due to the ability and hard work of State Printer Robert L. Telfer, whose administration of the state printing department throughout the recent session of the legislature and down to the present time is not only demonstrated in economies effected but in constant improvement of service.

Oil Lands Litigation

The Southern Pacific Company and other defendants filed in the United States District Court at Los Angeles Monday last its answer to the first of the six suits brought by the government to cancel titles the railroad holds to 153,000 acres of alleged oil lands in Kern, Fresno and Kings counties, said to be worth $200,000,000. The six suits, which are of the same general character, allege that the railroad company fraudulently obtained patents to these lands in 1892, 1894 and 1896 by concealing from the government land officers that the lands contained known and valuable deposits of oil and other minerals.

The answer filed involves 45,900 acres of land near the Coalinga oil district in Fresno county, which were patented July 10, 1894. The charges of fraud are denied in every particular and the answer asserts that it was not known or believed by the railroad company or by any one else, until six years after the patents were obtained, that petroleum could be found in them. The answer admits that since that time petroleum has been found in a small portion of the lands, but it denies that there are any other minerals in the lands. It alleges that the first knowledge that there was oil in these lands came to the company in 1900 through discoveries made by others, and that prior to that time the railroad company offered these lands for sale to any person who desired to purchase at $2.50 per acre, and did, in fact, sell a very large acreage of what has since proved to be valuable oil land.

Intradistrict Collections

Spokane's three national banks will not avail themselves of the intradistrict collection feature which the Federal Reserve bank of San Francisco proposes to place at the service of member banks in the Twelve district. It is not incumbent upon any member bank to make use of the collection department, although Governor Kains is endeavoring to secure their co-operation, as the service is without cost to the banks and he believes will have a tendency to strengthen the position of the district bank. Some time ago the banks were furnished with forms on which to express their attitude regarding these collections. All the Spokane banks answered the proposition negatively. In its formal reply the Old National Bank says:

"We have carefully considered the offer regarding intradistrict collections and beg to say that on our part we do not feel like entering into the plan proposed at this time. To our mind there are a number of elements entering into this question that are not yet defined sufficiently for us to commend ourselves favorably to the plan. It has always been our intention to do everything in our power to aid in the workings of the federal reserve act. Our belief is that the federal reserve bank should be a bank of deposit for reserves, a bank of discount and a bank of note issue. Consequently we do not at this time feel like co-operating to make it a bank for clearing the business of the United States."

Construction Work Improving

F. C. Finke, construction engineer with offices in the I. W. Helman building, talking with the Financial News yesterday regarding business conditions from an engineering point of view, said: "While construction work has improved in the last three months and there is still a gradual improvement, most of the business in my office is that of preliminary investigations and reports. However, I can say that this is a good sign, as it shows the cash is circulating and is seeking an outlet. Do not get the impression that there is nothing in actual construction, because there is more prospective work being prepared. I have just made preparations for accepting a $35,000 irrigation plant and a bank of note issue under my direction in San Bernardino county and next week there is a similar task to perform in regard to a $25,000 installation in San Diego county."

Pahvant Valley WHEAT

read what F.E. Belston says about it!

Western Securities Co.,
711 Hollingsworth Bldg.,
Los Angeles, Cal.

Gentlemen:—I weighed wheat this year grown on 65 acres of Delta land that ran as high as 72 lbs. to the bushel, and averaged 46 2-3 bushels to the acre. This was "Turkey Red" No. 1 hard wheat, and was sold unsacked for 80 cents a bushel. The land was watered once in the fall of 1913, and a part of it again in the spring of 1914. About 20 acres of the land was not plowed at all, the grain being planted in the stubble of the previous year's crop. This record may seem unbelievable to many people, but I am willing to testify under oath that the above statements are absolutely true because I planted the land and weighed the grain myself.

(Signed) F. E. BELSTON.

State of Utah, County of Millard—ss.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 18th day of December, 1914. A. M. McPherson, Notary Public. My commission expires Nov. 9th, 1918.

Pahvant Valley is on the main line of the Salt Lake Railroad in southwestern Utah—under $1,000,000 irrigation system. Estimated annual cost of maintenance from 40 to 50 cents per acre

$70 per acre for Land and Perpetual (gravity) Water Right.

$25 An Acre Down. Balance in 10 Years.

Although sugar beets, alfalfa-seed and hogs are the real big money-makers in Pahvant Valley—wheat is a quick, dependable "mortgage-lifter." Thousands of acres of No. 1 "Turkey Red" wheat will soon be harvested. The farmers say the crop will easily average better than 40 bushels to the acre—and many farms will yield over 50 bushels to the acre. This statement may seem unbelievable to you—and we wouldn't dare to make it if the actual evidence wasn't right now on the ground. Seeing is believing.

If the Middle West wheat farmers have become rich during the past few years—where the normal average wheat yield is only 16 to 18 bushels to the acre—will the Pahvant Valley farmers make money on land yielding 40 to 50 bushels to the acre? Figure it out for yourself. Even if peace were declared today, experts predict that the results of the European war will favorably affect the American wheat market for at least five years. Under these conditions doesn't Pahvant Valley wheat (40 to 50 bushels to the acre) look like absolute insurance of success right from the start?

Go up to Pahvant Valley and get the facts. Talk to the growers—see the crops. This is harvest time. Go and get your own evidence. Sugar beets, alfalfa, alfalfa seed, grain, hogs and dairying are absolutely proven money-makers in Pahvant Valley.

These crops are rapidly paying off mortgages—they are making bank accounts. The water maintenance cost is so low that Pahvant Valley farmers say that it seems like getting water for nothing as compared with other Western irrigation districts.

If you are tired of a lazy soil and high water cost—if you are weary of low average crop-yields—if you want to make real money in sufficient quantities to become absolutely independent—investigate Pahvant Valley at once. Booklet will be forwarded upon request. Special excursions at low home-seekers' rates from Los Angeles.

MERRY AFTERNOON

The D. W. T. Club Holds Delightful Meeting With Mrs. Jack King

The D. W. T. Club on the San Joaquin ranch held its meeting at Mrs. Jack King's Thursday, July 8, in place of July 1, on account of the Fourth. A delightful afternoon was spent by the guests as Mrs. King is noted especially for her genuine hospitality, and there are never any dull moments when she is hostess.

Her home is situated well up among the hills in a beautiful valley, and any one enjoys even the ride there and back.

Early in the afternoon iced lemonade was served, which was very refreshing after the ride. Later the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Miss Bernice, served home-made ice cream and cake. Before any one was aware of the fact that it was getting late, some one discovered it was supper time and, although Mrs. King urged all to stay to supper, there were men at home who would have to have their supper, so there was a hurried scramble for hats, and hasty adieus.

Birthday Surprise

The birthday of Miss Minnie Fowler of 1421 Spurgeon street was happily celebrated Thursday evening when a bevy of friends paid her a surprise visit.

Among those present were Misses Blanch Hankins, Renie Danis, Myrtle Renix, Virginia Pickas, Julia Pavaich, Eunice Buell, Estella Legion, Lula Vancil, Pearl Duncan, Bernice Sears, Minnie, Cara and Maud Fowler; Messrs. ### Birthday Celebration Is Held At Pretty New Home

One of the pleasant social affairs of last evening was the informal surprise celebration which honored the birthday of J. P. Thompson, his daughter, Mrs. C. G. White and Mrs. T. H. Sherrill, being the conspirators who planned the jolly affair, which was given at the pretty new home of the Sherrills at 820 East Fourth street.

The congenial company of relatives included two brothers and three sisters, besides other close relatives, and after a merry evening of music and conversation, delicious ice cream and cake were served.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Torrens, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Sherrill, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. White, Mr. and Mrs. R. #### Successful W. R. C. Tea

The W. R. C. Program and Tea, held yesterday afternoon at the G. A. R. hall, was a success from both a social and a financial standpoint, the proceeds going towards the big spread to be given to the comrades during their encampment at Huntington Beach next month.

Mrs. W. Q. Phipps was in charge of the enjoyable affair, the program opening with a pleasing piano selection by Mrs. Henry Moesser. Mrs. Sam King contributed an excellent reading and the company was next treated to a sweet solo given by Miss Fredda Moesser.

Following a beautiful vocal duet given by Mrs. Schlesinger and Mrs. Galbraith, Mrs. Neil McTaggart of Tustin gave an interesting account of her trip around the world.

Little Miss Estelle Schlesinger gave a reading which was highly applauded, the program closing with the singing of America by all present.

The hall and dining room were prettily decorated with shasta daisies and crimson dahlias and during the social hour ice cream and cake were served by Mrs. Phipps and her capable committee.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES

List of Membership Shows Chance For Others to Help Those In Need

The Associated Charities, the new organization for taking care of the poor of the city, is now housed in its new office in the Spurgeon building, room 434, and have begun to take charge of the work of aiding those in immediate need of help.

The following named people and organizations have contributed to the funds of the society. The dues are $1 for an individual membership, and $5 for an order, which can have a vote in the affairs of the association.

Members of Associated Charities
Rev. J. G. Kennedy, A. N. Zernman, E. M. Nealley, Capt. Woodside, W. W. Simon, A. J. Perkins, A. J. Crookshank, C. S. Osborn, D. K. Hammond, W. W. Hoy, H. R. Andre, W. H. Crose, C. S. Crookshank, Rev. J. H. Scott, Rev. P. F. Schrock, O. H. Maryatt, F. E. Chaffee, M. M. Crookshank, F. W. Winslow, W. A. Zimmerman, Mesdames A. J. Lawton, C. S. Shaw, C. A. Gustlin, F. N. Blake, Lea Warren, C. S. Osborn, W. E. Watson, E. E. Glenn, W. C. Young, J. C. Metzgar, C. M. Drake, L. M. Stafford, E. G. Holmes, Miss M. B. Henry, Miss Mary Wall, Dr. Willella H. Waffle.

Associate Members
M. & M. Association, J. C. Metzgar, Chamber of Commerce, Woman's Club, Ebbl Club, Knights of Pythias, Woodmen of the World.

It can readily be understood when one reads the number of members who have paid the annual dues of one dollar, and the few generous ones who have given the five dollars, that the society can do a very limited amount of relief work. The office so kindly donated by the Spurgeon Company is No. 434 in their new block and is open from 2 to 4 daily. The secretary is glad to have any one call and find out the needs of the work.

Several men and women have been given a few hours' work and many are unable to get anything to do. Work, not pity, is what is wanted. Many worthy families are in dire distress, with no prospect of work, and children, especially, need food and clothing. As the society is making a thorough investigation as to the worthy applicants, it will be a surprise to many to know that people have been on the county for months who are able to help themselves, while other women with children have a hard time to supply food by washing and cleaning house. While the county and city treasuries are exhausted, some means must be found to meet the demands.

Considerable clothing has been given for the needy, some canned fruit, jellies, furniture, etc. Kind hearted neighbors have been solicited for bread, beans, potatoes, etc. If each one would do their part it would not be a hard problem. If people who have fruit or vegetables going to waste will inform the secretary, many people will be grateful for the same.

To those who have so kindly responded, the society wishes to extend thanks, and it is felt that more people are becoming interested. The Ministerial Association has helped a number of destitute cases. The Salvation Army is helping to find out the reason of the numerous calls for help. The captain gives his services in this work, as does the secretary until such time as funds are available to carry on the personal investigations.

C. E. "Echo" Meeting

The Christian Endeavor Societies of the various churches will unite in a union meeting tomorrow evening at the Congregational Church. The meeting will begin promptly at 6 o'clock. There will be talks by the delegates who attended the great state convention at San Diego last week, and Mrs. Coleman will sing.

This is a city union meeting and all Endeavorers should attend. Every one else interested is cordially invited.

Organize New Club

Mrs. Edward Abbott was hostess yesterday afternoon to a group of young ladies who have recently organized a social club, the affair being given at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Wells, 1118 West Third street.

Pink roses and clusters of beautiful hydrangeas were used in the decorative scheme and concluding the pleasant afternoon of needlework, social chat and music, the hostess served cooling refreshments.

Among those present were Mesdames Rowland Stearns, Nat Neff, Barry McPhoe, Carey Billingsley, Glenn Wells; Misses Faith Shaw, Virgil Potts and Clara Wells.

The club meets once a month and will be entertained next time at the home of Mrs. Nat Neff.

PROGRESSIVE WHIST

Delightful Party Compliments Fair Visitors From Indiana

Misses Elizabeth Rudolph and Pearl Richards were hostesses last evening at a delightful card party, given in honor of Misses Edith and Lela Williamson who are enjoying their summer vacation in sight seeing in Southern California.

Just now, the popular eastern maidens are visiting for a fortnight with Misses Ruth and Pearl Richards of Fruit street, and last night's affair was one of several affairs that are being given in their honor.

A decorative scheme of red and white had been chosen and strands of tiny crimson hearts formed a pretty canopy in dining room and living room, while beneath the archway, between the two rooms hung a stein bearing the suggestive words, "Hearts Are Afloat."

From the number of dangling hearts the young people were requested to seize their own and the lucky boy, securing the heart of a groom, occupied this important position with a bride similarly chosen, for a merry mock wedding which was a feature of the evening's fun.

Progressive whist and music was also enjoyed before the serving of ice cream, delicious cake and fruit.

Among those present were Misses Lela and Edith Williamson, Gladys and Beulah Thomas, Elizabeth and Agnes Rudolph, Marguerite Wallace, Ruth and Pearl Richards; Messrs. Chas. Wallace, Stewart Smith, Ralph Brett, Roy Osborne, Loftus Morrison, Chas. Swanner, Henry Forgang, and Henry and Leo Young.

DUENKA KCHINGAROFF

Pen picture from the friend of a little immigrant girl of Los Angeles' Russian quarter. She was born in the land of the Czar and, at six months of age coming with her parents to this country to make a home, is typical of the "citizen" in embryo, who constitutes one of the chief factors in our immigration problem.

Duenka Kchingaroff, Slavic and free, from the Czar-ridden country was over the sea.

Immigrant child, bringing new worlds to old.

Wonderful nature, how wilt thou unfold

The Caucasus strength in thy sinews is bred;

Thy casant sires' blood in thy young limbs runs red.

Thou speakest of aeons of race growth on earth.

And ages to come to the higher race birth.

The primitive female, the breeder of brave,

Is linked in thy being with spiritual dawn.

For within thy small breast every passion is stored

That nature can play on the human heart-cord.

From school with a skip and a romp and a run,

Like the panther cub brimming with frolic and fun,

When up comes a quarrel and "Duenka is mad."

Oh, where is the smile so infective and glad?

The lightning flash from thy little, drab eyes,

And anger volcanic in strange language flies.

Thy six-year-old biceps can hurl a clod straight

And scatter the playmates at double quick rate.

But peace is as swift as the onslaught of war,

And love radiates like the sun as before.

Duenka Kchingaroff, Slavic and free,

I would that I knew the life-power within thee.

Thou sittest beside me as gentle and still

As the summer-soft haze on the summer-brown hill.

Thy tender, sweet soul in communion with mine,

And I love thee, my Duenka, the rough and the fine.

I have seen thee curled up in a heap on the ground,

In sulking disunion with all life around,

Thy bare toe-nails digging the dust in despair;

An arch-child begrimed to thy stringy, drab hair,

But joy leaps triumphant again in due time,

And up from the soil blooms the wild rose sublime.

Thou sittest beside me again all aglow

With the wonderful health from the land of the snow.

Thy little arms hug me in ecstasy wild,

And I feel the warm life of the kiss of a child.

Oh, Duenka Kchingaroff, Slavic and free,

Whither windeth the pathway of thy destiny?

Will poverty press thy firm body and mind

'Gainst the wall of the world in its merciless grind,

To deplete what was wrought in the untrammeled mould

Of the stratum evolving through iron to gold?

Will thy mate thee, perchance, with some fresh-bearded male

Ere thy girlhood is past and thy womanhood hale,

To transmit thy life to the world-life to come,

In the forms of strong men to replenish the sum

Of thy countrymen fallen, 'way over the sea,

My Duenka Kchingaroff, Slavic and free?

AT THE COURT HOUSE

ONCE MORE SUE TO VOID DEED OF REV. QUETU TO A COMPANY

For the third time Rev. Alfred Quetu of San Juan Capistrano is defendant in an action brought for the purpose of getting the superior court of this county to set aside a deed made by Rev. Quetu to the Capistrano Ranch Company and a deed made by the Capistrano Ranch Company to the Valencia Ranch Company.

This time the plaintiff is the United States National Bank of San Diego. The allegation in this complaint is the same as in two others filed at the office of the county clerk. It is declared that Rev. Quetu deeded 470 acres in the mission valley to a corporation in order to avoid satisfaction of notes outstanding.

The priest has been figuring in a number of legal tangles. At least one of the actions, probably two, that have been brought against him are based upon what has been declared to be fraud originally perpetrated upon the Capistrano, though the notes passed into innocent hands, and the actions were brought in good faith.

A few weeks ago a criminal complaint was sworn to by Rev. Quetu in which it appeared that he gave a man in whom he had trust notes aggregating $7000 with the expectation that he would get money on a note or notes for $3500 only, the other paper, representing $3500 having been given merely for convenience in negotiating the notes. However, all of the notes were negotiated. It is said that the man who had these notes originally is now in France.

The first suit brought here against Rev. Quetu was brought by the Orange County Savings and Trust Company on January 9, 1914, on a note for $5000.

On November 28, 1914, judgment for $621 was entered in favor of the bank. Execution was returned unsatisfied. On December 29, 1914, the bank brought an action declaring that Rev. Quetu had deeded his property to the Capistrano Ranch Company in order to prevent collection upon the note. The court was asked to find that the Capistrano Ranch Company and the Valencia Ranch Company had been formed by Rev. Quetu in order to protect himself, and that he was the principal owner of stock of those companies.

This action was dismissed at the request of Attorney E. E. Keech for the bank of June 4, 1914.

Two Other Actions

In the meantime, however, Rev. Quetu had been sued on two other notes, which, if at all, were concerned in the deal that resulted in the departure of his supposed friend for France.

In one action, John A. Davis of Los Angeles was plaintiff. His complaint stated that on March 16, 1915, judgment for $3247.39 was entered in Los Angeles in favor of Albert Kette against Rev. Quetu. It was stated that execution had not been satisfied.

Therefore Davis as assignee of Kette brought suit here in an attempt to get a court judgment, making it possible for the 470 acres at San Juan Capistrano to stand good for the Los Angeles judgment.

In the Orange County Savings and Trust Company complaint, it was alleged that the ranch corporations were organized for the purpose of receiving the ranch so that the notes could not be satisfied.

In the Davis case, a demurrer has been filed by Attorney D. J. Hinckley of Los Angeles for Rev. Quetu. The demurrer has not yet been ruled upon.

Yesterday afternoon there was filed the third complaint in which the court is asked to void the deeds to the ranch companies. In the new case the United States National Bank of San Diego is plaintiff. That bank brought suit on a $3500 note, and on May 27 got default judgment for $4061.50 against Rev. Quetu on his note. The complaint filed yesterday recites that the sheriff was unable to find anything upon which to levy, and that the judgment is not satisfied. The court is asked to hold the mission valley property for it by declaring the deeds to the ranch companies void. It is stated that on May 1, 1914, Rev. Quetu deeded the 470 acres to the Capistrano Co. and on June 2, 1914, the ranch passed to the Valencia Ranch Co. It is stated in the complaint that Alfred Quetu, Augustin Quetu and Samuel De Lannoy are the incorporators.

S. M. Davis and Sumner & May are attorneys for the San Diego bank bringing the action.

Though it has been nearly eight months since the first action was brought assailing the legal citadel of the San Juan Capistrano rancher-priest, the attacking forces have not yet secured a judgment voiding the deeds. Whether or not such a judgment can be secured remains to be determined by trial.

Asks Guardianship

Yesterday an interlocutory decree of divorce was granted Beulah Van de Venter against G. L. Van de Venter. Judge Thomas tried the case.

Set for Trial

A mortgage has been recorded by the Maybury Ranch Company to the Union Trust & Savings Bank of Pasadena. Lots 1 to 4, Maybury tract, Santa Ana, are mortgaged for $57,000 for three years at 6 1/2 per cent.

There has been recorded an abstract of judgment entered in a Los Angeles township for $196 in favor of J. E. Funnell and against Nixon M. Jay and others.

Notice of attachment has been recorded in an action for $305 brought by the Griffith Lumber Company against Thomas Haster.

MINING BOOM IS HERE NOW, NOT ON ITS WAY

"Is there a mining boom coming?" No, not coming, for it is here now and those who are seeking investment in mining properties are numbered in the hundreds compared with tens early this year. And it is not gold properties that are sought, but the baser metal mines like zinc and lead, both of which metals have been soaring for the past several months, and which will so continue.

It was Henry C. Cutting, well known Nevada, well known Californian, the man who once owned Tonopah, who owns the largest acreage about the inner harbor of Richmond, mining engineer and a large owner in the Yellow Pine mine, one of the big dividend payers in the mining world, who was talking. He was in Los Angeles this week en route to Good Springs, Nevada, where he went to inspect the Pilgrim mine, a zinc property and several other properties that he owned.

He was talking to The Financial News and continuing said: "This mining boom is sweeping the country. It is like a great wave and of the stock that are being bought and which will be bought are not in wildcat mines, but in real mines, in the development of properties that, like the Yellow Pine, will pay big.

"Mining, you know, differs from other kinds of business. Chances have to be taken. The prospect hole of today is more than likely to be the bonanza of tomorrow. A blow of the pick, a shot exploded in the rock may uncover untold riches. It is somewhat of a gamble. I might say, for a chance is taken. But most people are willing to take the chance. Had they held back there would have been no mining interests, no great mining camps giving employment to thousands of men today."

"And here, almost within a stone's throw of Los Angeles, there are mining prospects that are rich beyond compare. Los Angeles capital is awakening to this fact as other places have and while I have said there is a mining boom here now, it will continue to grow until the people in your wonderful city will not only be astonished, but I might say appalled at its magnitude."

"And this boom, as I have said, is in the baser metal mines. The war has created a famine in zinc and the price for this metal, which has ranged around $100 per ton for the past thirty years, has jumped to $300 per ton. The same is true of red metal and the price of copper has soared skyward. It is this that has caused the opening up and the development of the baser metal mines and which has brought this boom for mining stocks which is sweeping the country like a great wave."

Would Enjoin Gas Rate

Southern California Gas Company and the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation seeks to restrain the City of Los Angeles from enforcing the new 6 1/2 cent gas rate and have applied to the United States District Court for an injunction. The case will be heard next week.

IN THE JUSTICE COURT

BULL FIGHTS TO BE HIS EVERY DAY DIET

Raymond Yorba Gets Another Floater, Says He Is Going To Tia Juana

Raymond Yorba, whose illicit sales of booze long since made him a familiar figure in the justice's court, is going where booze may flow and bulls may fight and justices of the peace and sheriffs and county ordinances of Orange county rise not up to smite.

Raymond is going to Tia Juana. He has added a new employment to those that have occupied his attention for these last several years. He is going to figure in bull fights at Tia Juana. Before long it may be "Senor Ramon Yorba, el matador grandef"

That he was headed for the classic adobe of the border town was made known by Justice Cox's court this morning when Raymond was given a six month's floater. No explanation as to what a floater is was necessary. Raymond has heard of floaters before. Though he has never been one of the kind that the corner deals with, he has had the kind that Justice Cox deals out.

Among local officers, Raymond, a youth of Spanish descent, has considerable of a reputation as a bootlegger. He has served a sentence or two on that score, and some time ago Justice Cox gave him a suspended sentence and told him to get out of the county and stay out.

A few weeks ago Sheriff Jackson heard that Raymond had transferred his base of operations to San Juan Capistrano. A hurried trip was made by the officer to the mission town. He did not find Raymond, but he did find several barrels of what the officer feels certain was beer consigned to Raymond. Later these barrels were sent elsewhere, for Raymond was not strong for sticking around when he knew the sheriff was wise to the game.

Yesterday Raymond was again at San Juan, and on instructions from the sheriff, Constable Combs locked him up. Jackson brought Raymond here, and put him in jail. This morning he put a vagrancy charge against the youth.

"I could have brought other charges against him," said the sheriff to the justice, "but the interest of stopping booze selling in this county will be served so far as Yorba is concerned just as well if he is given a floater. I'd rather have him out of the county than in jail."

"Didn't I tell you when you were before me last time that if you came back here, they'd catch you again, Raymond?" asked Judge Cox.

"Yes, that was a long time ago, and a fellow wants to come back here once in awhile."

"Where are you going, if I withhold a six-month's commitment?" "To Tia Juana," said Raymond. "I'd have been there today, if I had not been arrested. I can get a job down there from a friend."

"What doing?" "Around the saloon and the bull pen."

"All right, you can go," said the judge.

Withdraws His Plea

Today C. W. Van Hove, driver of a Union Oil truck at Olinda, withdrew his plea of guilty to driving an unshod truck on the highway near Placentia. The plea was withdrawn so that Justice Cox might go to Placentia and view the marks made in the pavement by the truck. Two or three Union Oil men were at the court house today arguing that the damage ought not call for a heavy fine. Van Hove admitted driving the truck as alleged. He pleaded guilty yesterday. In order to avoid having to pass sentence this morning, the justice allowed the plea of guilty to be withdrawn.

A Word With the Man Who Is Seeking a Ranch

There are three essential considerations that should enter into the location of the ranch you choose. First, it should appeal to you from a standpoint of happiness, where your family is going to be both comfortable and contented; in the second place it should appeal to you from a standpoint of health, and in the third place and more important of all it should appeal to you from a standpoint of dollars and cents in profit.

Do you know any place in California where you can buy land within four miles of a rapidly growing city of 50,000 people that has doubled its population three times within the last fifteen years? Consider the size of this, your home town, think what is the cheapest good land with water you can buy within four miles of here and you will find that it runs in the neighborhood of at least $500 per acre. Now, if you could buy as good or better land that would raise as much or more to the acre with abundance of water delivered to your land for a total cost of one dollar per acre per year regardless of the amount of water you used, and you could buy that land at $200 per acre and be reasonably assured of its netting you twenty-five per cent a year, you would be interested, would you not? I have exactly the above to offer, in addition it is within four miles of one of the fastest growing cities of 50,000 people in California, with a street car operating every hour to take you into the heart of this city in twenty minutes time and a fifteen-cent fare. Offering the best of stores, churches, schools, theaters, markets and all city comforts, in one of the most healthy sections of this state. You can practically buy this land upon your own terms. I have some exceptional inducements to offer the first 100 settlers, if you are in the market for good land, it will pay you to see me quick.

COOLING DISHES FOR HOT WEATHER

Helpful Suggestions for the Summer's Bill of Fare

During the hot summer months the heavy heating foods and drinks so general in the colder seasons should be avoided. The careful housewife, having the good health of her family in mind, should make a special study of the proper preparation of cooling and nutritious foods and drinks at this season of the year.

One of the most useful aids to the housewife in this connection is that delicious food product—Cornstarch. It seems a pity that the women of the country generally do not have a better knowledge of the immense variety of uses to which this product can be put. Especially during the hot weather, when a great variety of ice creams, frozen custards, frappes, etc., can be easily and quickly prepared by its use.

Undoubtedly many women have been disappointed when using cornstarch as a result of utilizing an inferior quality. Those who have had the best success with cornstarch recipes in all parts of the country invariably use the well-known King'sford's brand—which can be obtained at all modern grocers. Order King'sford's Cornstarch from your grocer today, and ask for the little King'sford's Cook Book containing many valuable recipes for warm weather delicacies.—Advertisement.

FOURTH CELEBRATION
 At Sycamore camp on the E. L. Higgins ranch on Monday all the workers in the apricots joined in celebrating the Fourth with a sumptuous picnic dinner.

Many of the ladies invited their husbands and the girls their gentlemen friends and all sat down to a large table spread with good things, at the close of which a dessert of ice cream and cake was served.

Applied soon after being bitten this will cure any spider bite. Another remedy equally as good is to apply a swab of cotton saturated with a 15 per cent solution of chloride of lime as a poultice. This is also a cure for a centipede bite.

The permanganate of potash is better for bites of some kinds of snakes than others. It is a very convenient antidote to carry and use and should be better known.—Orchard and Farm.

CURE FOR SNAKE BITE
 Summer and camping trips increase the danger of snake bites, which people fear less now that they know cures than they once did. The most acceptable cure the last few years has been permanganate of potash, either in crystals, to be inserted into the wound, which must first be enlarged with a penknife, or as a solution. An authority on serpents recommends for rattlesnakes what he says is a better cure.

He states that a 6 per cent solution of chloride of lime should be injected into and around the wound. In ordinary cases about three light injections should be made, and then one-sixtieth of a grain of strychnine should be administered as a stimulant—enough to keep up circulation. The stomach should be filled with sweet milk if possible, and if not, cold water should be used. When the poison is killed by the chemicals it goes into the stomach and will cause vomiting, and the milk or water will wash the stomach free.

For the bite of a tarantula the wound should be cauterized with a 95 per cent solution of carbolic acid. If applied soon after being bitten this will cure any spider bite. Another remedy equally as good is to apply a swab of cotton saturated with a 15 per cent solution of chloride of lime as a poultice. This is also a cure for a centipede bite.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL NEWS NOTES FROM ORANGE CITY

ORANGE, July 9.—The central figures of a happy gathering, assembled amid the beauty of Nature's setting, Anna Heitshusen and Ottmar J. Heitshusen stood at dusk yesterday and took the vows that promise eternal happiness. It was an out door ceremony and the soft gleam of electric bulbs that dotted the falling shadows stamped an impression of indescribable beauty on the memory of those who formed the gay throng.

At 7:30 Dr. J. H. Speer pronounced the wedding service, the bridal party standing beneath an arch on the lawn at the Heitshusen home in Olive. One hundred and twenty-five guests were present. Electric lights shaded with pink were strung beneath the trees, forming an odd mingling of light and darkness that gave a touch of enchantment to the scene.

For the ceremony, Mrs. Mabel Kresen played the bridal chorus from Lohengrin. The bride was beautifully attired in bridal net over satin, her veil caught with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations and fern. Her bridesmaid, Miss Lillian Orte, wore an alluring gown of delicate pink satin, trimmed with pink rose buds. She carried pink carnations and fern. The groom was attended by Fred Heitshusen, brother of the bride.

Congratulations over, the company were seated at a sumptuous four-course wedding supper served at tastefully decorated tables. The bride's table was especially beautiful with pink roses and orange blossoms. Later the scene was shifted to the Olive hall, where a delightful reception ensued, the guests indulging in social pastimes until a late hour.

The young couple received a beautiful collection of wedding gifts of every description. Both are widely known and admired in the vicinity. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Heitshusen. She has grown up in Olive and is regarded as a fine type of young woman. The groom has not been long a resident of that community, but is known as a young man of ability and character. He is connected with the Olive Milling company. They will start housekeeping in Olive at once, but plan for a wedding trip to northern points at a later date.

LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

Several facts are worthy of notice at this time in regard to the dried fruit industry. The year 1915 will witness the marketing of about 550,000,000 pounds of dried fruit by California orchardists including in round numbers 300,000,000 pounds of raisins, 125,000,000 pounds of prunes, 75,000,000 pounds of peaches, and over 40,000,000 pounds of apricots. Apricot season is drawing to a close and the growers are proceeding as rapidly as possible to dry their crops. The peach and grape crops will be well above normal this year and lower prices can be expected in the dried varieties of both fruits. The dried fruit market at present is firm with the exception of prunes.

As a whole dried fruit quotations are on a fairly low level with considerable variance in the prices of the different dealers and wholesalers. Pony cantaloupes were again on the market yesterday and sold for $1.65 a crate. Higher prices were observed in all grades of cantaloupes, standard selling for $1.80 and jumbo bringing the substantial figure of $1.90 a crate. Black figs in boxes were more valuable and the price advanced to 75 cents a box. Tomatoes are still restricted to local stuff and as a result the supply is not any too plentiful. A small amount of sweetwater grapes and casaba melons are coming into the market and are being sold for 7 to 8 cents a pound and $3.00 a dozen respectively. White potatoes rose a trifle in value yesterday and were quoted at $1.00 to $1.05 a hundred weight.

"It's easy enough to be pleasant When a man has all he requires; If his health is all right His heart will be light While he's riding on Diamond Tires."

—Mr. Squeegie

A man is a good deal like a tire.

His greatness depends on the crowd he is in.

The really great man—the leader—literally has to meet all comers in the contest for public approval. Any tire is the best tire in a crowd of inferiors.

But nowadays a tire has to be extraordinary if it is to make and hold a record for superior service and mileage economy.

It is the extraordinary quality of Diamond Tires that has given them their deserved pre-eminence. Send for our book of letters from dealers who sold Diamond Tires in 1914.

It tells how more than 99 out of every 100 of the more than half a million Diamond Tires sold last year gave maximum service at minimum mileage cost. It is yours for the asking.

EGGLESS EGG NOODLES AND COLORED MACARONI EXAMINED

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Recent activity on the part of certain noodle and macaroni manufacturers in selling noodles artificially colored yellow and "egg noodles," when they contain little or no egg, has led the federal and state food officials to seek means of stopping this fraudulent traffic.

It is the custom in taking up matters of this kind to afford an opportunity for a hearing to all manufacturers and other interested parties in order to permit them to present reasons for or against trade practices. Accordingly, the joint committee on definitions and standards, representing the Association of American Dairy, Food and Drug Officials, the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists, and the U. S. Department of Agriculture, recently held a hearing in order to secure all possible information in regard to the manufacture of noodles, macaroni and similar alimentary pastes.

To the average person it would seem an easy matter to answer such questions as "What are egg noodles?" or "What are egg macaroni?" The question, however, is not so easy to answer if put in this way: "How much egg must a manufacturer add to his noodles before he is legally entitled to label his product 'egg noodles'?" The question of amount might be stated this way: "If the manufacturer uses just a trifling amount of egg, can the product legally be labeled 'egg noodles'?"

ANTS CANNOT EXIST

Where the Following Simple Method of Extermination Is Pursued

Ants are persevering insects. They persist in living long after you think you have put the quietus on them forever. A cat may have nine lives, but he has got nothing on an ant in this respect.

Many remedies have been tried on ants without result, but one has at last been discovered which will absolutely put them out of business. A baker and candy-maker in Los Angeles, driven to distraction by this pest, prepared a paste which drove every ant out of his shop in one day. Ants cannot exist where this remedy is used. Thousands of testimonials from all over the country bear witness to its efficacy.

It is put up for general use under the name of Kellogg's Ant Paste, and can be obtained at all good druggists. Try a package today and end your ant troubles for all time.—Advertisement.

when considered as food, whether or not they contain any eggs or enough eggs to be of value as food, is important. For it is possible to make yellow noodles without any eggs at all and also to spread one egg over a great many noodles and add enough dye to give an attractive color. It was important, therefore, to find whether a mere suspicion of egg employed in an attempt to escape the law on a technicality would be considered in the trade justification for calling the product "egg noodles."

Macaroni also Dyed to Deceive the Housewife

Dye has been used also for the purpose of deception in the manufacture of macaroni. The best grade of macaroni is made from the semolina of durum wheat. This semolina is rich in gluten, which consists of the nitrogenous substances of the grain, and is high in food value. This wheat has its own characteristic yellow color, which is rightly associated in the minds of purchasers with the highest grade products. The yellow color, ever can, like that of the egg, be accurately reproduced by the use of certain dyes. It has become the practice for certain manufacturers to make macaroni from grades of flour which are much less expensive than those from which macaroni is customarily made. This cheap substitute is artificially colored, by the addition of a dye, to look so nearly like the high grade genuine durum semolina macaroni that the ordinary purchaser is completely deceived.

Artificial coloring matter in noodles and macaroni serves no useful purpose whatever. It is added solely for the purpose of deception. Even a harmless dye adds nothing in the way of taste or nourishment. An easy way to determine whether macaroni and noodles have been artificially colored is to examine the water in which they have been cooked; if they have been artificially colored with soluble dyes the water will be yellow. This, however, is not an infallible test, as some of the yellow dyes employed do not dissolve or color water.

Paying Macaroni Prices for Water

There have long been regulations about how much water should be in butter. It is possible to mix in more water than is natural with the result that the buyer pays butter-fat prices for a water-tap product. The same excessive dilution of macaroni and noodles is possible. For this reason, information also was sought at the hearing in regard to the legitimate moisture content of macaroni and noodles and the relation of the moisture content to the statement on the packages of weight. The amount of moisture that should be permitted has an important bearing on the application of the net weight amendment of the Food and Drugs Act to such products. A pound of macaroni that contains 11 per cent moisture has more nutritive substance than a pound of macaroni otherwise equal in quality that contains 15 per cent or more moisture. The investigations made by the Department of Agriculture have shown that there is a very great difference in the amount of moisture in macaroni, noodles, and similar alimentary pastes now on the market. Water added in excessive amount and sold at the price of macaroni is even more profitable than dyed dough at the price of egg noodles.

Those who appeared at the hearing before the committee on definitions and standards agreed that in order to put competition within the industry on a fair basis, and to guard the interests of the consumers, definitions should be adopted that would absolutely prohibit the use of artificial coloring, fix a minimum egg requirement for articles sold as egg products, and also define the amount of moisture that may be permitted in the products. What these limitations and requirements shall be is now being considered by the committee on definitions and standards.

FULLERTON WANTS THE SANTA FE TO PUT IN CROSSINGS WARNINGS

Fullerton Tribune: Several of the officials of the Santa Fe railroad came out from Los Angeles Thursday to confer with Mayor Gregory and members of the board of city trustees with reference to the lacking of warning signaling devices at dangerous crossings in Fullerton.

Complaint has been made to the trustees several times about the lack of such warning devices. These have been installed in practically every case in other cities, and the matter was taken up with the railway officials by mail, with the result that they made a personal tour of the ground and inspected the crossings Thursday.

A proposition of making the installation and have the city pay half was made by the railroad men, but met with little encouragement by the trustees, who feel that the amount of business Fullerton gives the Santa Fe entitles this city to as much consideration as any of our neighboring cities, who in some cases give a large part of their passenger and freight traffic to the Pacific Electric or other roads.

It was pointed out to the visiting committee that in almost every case the Pacific Electric had installed warning devices at road crossings.

That fact seemed to be food for thought. It is probable that three or four of the most dangerous crossings here will be provided with some kind of signaling device in the near future.
